

TENURE TRACK ASSISTANT PROFESSOR (GEOPHYSICS) in DEPARTMENT OF GEOSCIENCES
- STONY BROOK UNIVERSITY

The Department of Geosciences at Stony Brook University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor faculty position in computational or theoretical geophysics. We seek a candidate with the potential to carry out a program of research that can complement one or more of the department's current and traditional research strengths in geodynamics, seismology, mineral physics, and rock mechanics, and who will be an effective teacher in undergraduate and graduate courses. Details of the department's areas of research emphasis and current facilities may be found at www.stonybrook.edu/geosciences.

The successful candidate must have a Ph.D. in the geosciences or closely related field at the time of appointment. The successful candidate must also have the clear potential to establish an internationally recognized, externally funded research program that would include mentoring of graduate and undergraduate students.

Applicants should apply by January 16, 2017 through AcademicJobsOnline.org at <http://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/7925> (Position ID: 7925). Applications should include a cover letter, CV, research and teaching statements and the names and contact information of three references. Applications should be addressed to Geophysics Search Committee, Department of Geosciences, Stony Brook University, Stony Brook, NY, 11794-2100, USA. Questions should be directed to the Chair of the Search Committee, Prof. William Holt (William.holt@stonybrook.edu).
